Where is Salceby?

Attend church Easter Sunday. A. M. Conard is up from Cobre Grande.

Who said there was no war in Mexico.

Dr. Blundell, physician and surgeon of Santa Ana, is sojourning in the city.

Six hundred rebels are said to be making their headquarters on Proto's Cocospera ranch.

Carlos Bustamante, formerly of this city, now practicing law in Tucson, is attending district court.

W. E. Balcorn of Mesquite Park, near Tubac, was a business visitor at the county seat several days this week.

All the faithful, and those who are not, will please, take notice that if they want "Motzoz," L. Lulley, of Lulley's Buffet has them.

Fred C. Emery, president of the La Cobia Mining Company, is visiting in the city from the mines west of Noria, Sonora, a dozen miles.

E. E. Pope, is up from the mines in Sonora. In a few days he will continue east on mining business. He is president of La Libertad mines.

Fred. B. Sayre, brother of George Sayre, one of Uncle Sam's line riders, has this week been a visitor in the city, attending district court as a trial juror.

Colonel Perry, U. S. A., inspecting soldiers on the international line, accompanied by his wife, spent yesterday in Nogales, departing for the north this morning.

Attorney General John B. Wright attended district court this week in the interest of several clients. General Wright is one of the best known attorneys in Arizona.

Joseph F. Seymour, Jr., one of Tucson's bright young lawyers, has been a busy man in town the past ten days. Joe is a live wire, and keeps constantly on the jump.

Paul Moren, of Pittsburg, Pa., after spending several months in Sonora with E. E. Pope, is a guest at the Montezuma hotel. Paul will go to Panama before returning home.

O. K. Franklin, the mining man, visited Patagonia the forepart of the week on mining business. Wherever there is something doing in a mining way, you'll find O. K.

James F. McIntyre, the well known, popular member of the firm of Cumming & McIntyre, after a business visit of several days in Sonora, is again circulating among his friends.

Patt Sullivan, advertising manager of the Daily Globe, of Globe, is visiting Guaymas, for the benefit of his health. The bay city agrees with him, and he'll soon be his old self again.

Noon & Barry, the lawyers, have elegant commodious chambers in the new building corner Morley avenue and Park street. The boys are wide-awake hustlers; they are doing a nice business.

Frank Chase, one of Roy & Titcomb's efficient accountants, has gone to Los Angeles to enjoy a short visit with his parents. His mother, who has been quite ill, is reported greatly improved.

Frank Pearce, a well known knight of the road, was in town yesterday in the interest of a big house he represents. Frank resided here several years ago and is pleasantly remembered by our best people.

The people of Nogales are not excited or worried over the reports in circulation that the rebels are about to attack Nogales, Sonora. It is none of our business, nor do we intend to mix in our neighbor's affairs, but if there is any shooting of American citizens as was done at Agua Prieta the other day, Uncle Sam's boys stationed here with the assistance of American citizens may stop the war so far as Nogales is concerned.

Blas Torres has for several days been a visitor in the city. Blas for a long time has been representing Albert Steinfeld & Co., the big Tucson firm, in Mexico. For a long time he and his family resided in Nogales.

Sig Symonds, one of the oldest, best known traveling men on the road, who often visits Nogales, was here the forepart of the week interviewing local customers. Sig says he is seventy-two, but his friends insist he's only twenty-one.

Peter Johnson, many years operating mining property in the state of Sonora, with headquarters at Magdalena, was here Tuesday, from Sonora, after an extended absence. Peter's numerous Nogales friends are always pleased to see him.

Wednesday morning about five hundred head of Sonora cattle from the Alamo Cattle Company's ranch thirty miles from Magdalena, Sonora, were crossed at this port of entry, the purchaser being Frank Ramsey. The cattle were shipped to Colorado.

W. E. Bower, proprietor of Rancho los Cochis, situated in the foothills of the Huachuca mountains, this county, has been serving his country here this week as a grand juror. Mr. Bower has one of the best ranches in his section of the county.

Nick Farrell, eldest son of Hon. Richard Farrell, of Harshaw, has been here this week attending district court. Nick is one of the champion bronco busters of the southwest. He can ride anything on earth in the way of horse flesh. If you don't believe it, trot out you boss.

F. J. Hobson, with the Santa Cruz & Sonora Reduction Company, has this week been out in the hills on business for his big company. Hobson is a thorough mining engineer of the old school; nothing but the real thing for him, as all who have business dealings with him will soon learn.

Ben Powell of the Huachuca mountains, where for a long time he and his family have made their home, has been here attending court this week, from his fine mountain home. While here he purchased from A. A. Hudson, of the City Dairy, a couple of thoroughbred Jersey calves.

John Henderson, Jr., son of John Henderson, one of Sonora's pioneer mining men, who now makes Pasadena, California his home, has been in town a couple of days from his father's mines west of Nogales in Sonora about fifteen miles. Young Henderson is an expert assayer as well as a first-class miner.

The grand jury investigated the charges against Mrs. L. Bertiss G. Whealy, who was held following the verdict of the coroner's jury that William Whealy came to his death from morphine poison, and found no bill. The woman, who was represented by Joseph F. Seymour, Jr., is still in the city.

The murder cases of Fernando Yslas and Maximo Saldade, Mexicans charged with killing four Chinamen whom they smuggled across the border from Mexico have been set for April 17th. The grand jury indicted Yslas and Saldade for murder on three charges and on one charge of assault with deadly weapons.

I. E. Bower, manager of the Llano Copper Company, with headquarters at camp, near Noria, Sonora, was a business visitor here Thursday of this week. Mr. Bower says he is not uneasy about the rebellion in Sonora, and believes he and Mrs. Bower are as safe now as ever before in that country, where they are well known.

Mine Host and Mrs. L. J. F. Jaeger of the Santa Rita and Montezuma hotels, here and in Tucson, spent Wednesday night at the Montezuma hotel, returning to the ancient and honorable pueblo Thursday morning. Both Mr. and Mrs. Jaeger are well and favorably known; they have a host of friends throughout Arizona who are always pleased to see them.

S. A. Bowman, general foreman for George B. Marsh, Inc., is not only a past master in his business, but the best guesser in town. As a result he now owns the Dr. A. C. Kingsley automobile raffled last week. Bo says just as soon as he gets the wild thing broke, he's going to treat all his friends to a ride. We always did think Bo was a good fellow, and believed he was a friend of ours.

A. A. Monteverde, the theatrical manager, who makes Hermosillo his home, has been a business visitor here several days this week. "Monte," as his intimate friends love to call him, makes good in anything he undertakes. He is a twenty century hustler.

Dr. Kelly, accompanied by Mrs. Kelly and their cute little girl, arrived in the city yesterday from Altar, their home, making the trip by automobile. The doctor was in Caborca last week when the rebels took possession of the town, without firing a shot. They still have it.

Last Sunday night Alberto Naranjo, a well known citizen of Nogales, Sonora, while engaged in playing a game of billiards in El Congreso saloon, on the Mexican side of the line, dropped dead of heart failure. Naranjo was about forty-five years of age, a carpenter by trade and a man of family. He was highly respected by all who knew him, and his sudden, untimely death is deeply regretted.

Mr. C. M. Sanders, until recently agent here for the Southern Pacific, telegraphs from New Orleans that he is in quarantine in that city, on account of his daughter Mamie having been stricken with measles. After leaving New Orleans, Mr. Sanders and family will go to New York, thence to the old home at Commerce, Georgia. About May 1st he will return to Tucson, where he will work for the Southern Pacific.

W. E. Rogers, president of the great Los Palomos gold placer grounds out beyond Altar, on the coast, passed south the other day with a number of wealthy associates who will pay a visit to the property under the guidance of Mr. Rogers, who is one of the most successful mining men in Mexico. The gold properties owned by his company are said to be worth millions and every man interested will receive handsome returns on his investment.

Postmaster Harry Barnett of Patagonia, and Chairman O. F. Ashburn of the board of supervisors, were visitors in the city a couple of days this week, having business in district court connected with the case of Santiago Ainsa, administrator of the estate of Frank Ely, deceased, and the Crittenden Cattle Company, et al. The gentlemen appeared for the defendants. Selim M. Franklin represented the plaintiff, and John B. Wright the defendants.

Maurice Breen, ex-county recorder of Santa Cruz county, who with his interesting family resided in Nogales a number of years before removing to California, accompanied by his family, spent Sunday here visiting relatives and friends. For some time past Mr. Breen and family have been making their home in Cananea, where the gentleman had a fine position with a big mining company. From here they will go to Chicago, Illinois, thence to Iowa. Mrs. Breen's old home. Mr. Breen will make Chicago his headquarters.

C. D. Moore, of The Arcade, accompanied by his family left the forepart of the week for Sentinel, the famous hot springs near Yuma, where many good Arizonans, and others, have been relieved of their pains and aches and made happy. Mr. Moore has been there before and knows the merits of the springs. He will take a cottage and with his family remain there until completely cured of a troublesome attack of rheumatism. During his absence from the city, James Schultz and Hon. Bo. J. Whiteside, will care for the numerous wants of patrons of The Arcade, where day and night the best of everything is served over the bar.

Splendid progress is being made at the Mexican West Coast Oil Company's well No. 1, out at Mascarenas station on the Buena Vista ranch of Don Manuel Mascarenas, and in the near future Manager H. E. Stevens believes his company will be the proud possessor of a producing well. Supt. Chas. Brinton, one of the most expert drillers in the country, who has had thirty years practical experience, says he never saw better indications for oil. A. C. Bernard and Chas. McCulley, directors of the company have just visited the field. They too are very enthusiastic over the future. As a result of the activity out at Mascarenas, many hundred acres of supposed oil land are being located on the American side of the line, by Nogales people, who propose to be in on the ground floor, when the boom comes.

U. S. WILL INTERVENE.

Associates Press today announces that the United States government will intervene and prevent any further fighting at Agua Prieta, Sonora.

Yesterday afternoon at four o'clock General Garcia, commander of the rebel forces, entered Agua Prieta with 1000 soldiers.

Advices received from the border town which is in the hands of the rebels, state that there has been no second fight as reported yesterday afternoon, but a big battle between federals and rebels is looked for soon, as there are more than 1000 government soldiers in that section.

All sorts of reports unofficial, are in circulation here, one being to the effect that 600 rebels are marching on Nogales, Sonora.

So long as the boys shenny on their own side, we'll not kick.

REBS CAPTURE CITY.

Agua Prieta Scene of Bloody Battle.

Douglas, Arizona, April 14.—Agua Prieta was captured late Thursday afternoon after a two hour battle, during which time bullets rained upon the business district and railroad yards of Douglas, killing Robert Harrington, a switchman, and mortally wounding E. W. Crowe, a brakeman, who was working with Harrington.

Antonio Rojas and Colonel Camberos with 310 rebels including Arturo (Red) Lopez, and his band captured a Nacozari train at Fronteras and rode into Agua Prieta on it.

When the train stopped at Agua Prieta station, the battle began. The first volleys sent a shower of bullets into Douglas and for half an hour a leaden hail peppered business blocks and fell in the streets and railroad yards.

MEXICO RESPONSIBLE.

Washington, D. C., April 14.—The Mexican government, according to the view of the state department, is accountable for the loss of life and injury to Americans at Douglas during the fighting between federals and insurgents at Agua Prieta yesterday. No matter whether it was the fire of the federals or the insurgents that inflicted the injury, it will be the federal government to which the United States will look for reparation. The shrewdness of the insurgents in making the attack from the north and forcing the defenders to fire toward Douglas has aroused comment and it is believed they recognized the possibility of an entanglement between the Mexican government and that of the United States.

JOHN J. WYATT WINS.

Wednesday in district court Judge Doan heard the evidence and argument in the case of John J. Wyatt vs. The Arizona Gold Mines and Milling Company, the suit being one to recover some $2000 which Mr. Wyatt claimed the company owed him.

For more than three hours the legal battle was ably fought before Judge Doan, Selim M. Franklin, of Tucson representing the defendant, and Pickett & Pickett, of Tombstone, the plaintiff, and judgment was allowed Mr. Wyatt, who naturally feels fine over the result.

Colonel Pickett, the senior member of the law firm of Pickett & Pickett, who so ably represented Mr. Wyatt, is an avowed candidate for the United States senate from Arizona when we become a state. The colonel believes that senators should be elected by the direct vote of the people.

He is a natural born politician, and when the proper time comes will be found on the fire-line working for Colonel Pickett, the original advocate of electing United States senators by the direct vote of the people.

This morning His Honor adjourned court until next Monday morning.

George Januel, the expert German barber, on Morley Ave., near International line, guarantees his work, and respectfully invites you to give him a trial. Everything neat and clean. Hair Cutting a specialty.
